MIKU EXPO

REWIND ◀

Relive the greatest hits from Hatsune Miku's world tour MIKU EXPO!
MIKU EXPO Rewind will be streamed for free on June 5th (Sun.), 2022!

With the ongoing spread of COVID-19, traveling internationally, hosting concerts and other events, are still difficult. In order to provide content that fans across the world can enjoy from wherever they are, we will be streaming an online event for free this year again.

As the title of the event "Rewind" suggests, we hope that fans will be able to experience the selection of MIKU EXPO by looking back on past concert footage. It will also include valuable footage that has not been released in archives or on DVD. We hope you will enjoy this special event that looks back on 7 years of MIKU EXPO.

MIKU EXPO Memories

Crypton Future Media, INC. CEO
Hiroyuki Itoh

In every city, there will always be young fans at the exhibitions. However, there was an elderly couple who didn't look like they belonged there, were sitting on chairs in the middle of the room, staring at the exhibition. When I talked to them out of curiosity, they told me that they have a daughter with a disability. They told me that their daughter was a huge fan of Miku, and the first letters she learned were "MIKU". This episode was from the "MIKU EXPO 2014 in Los Angeles" exhibition.

Also, there was one concert that I still cannot forget, which is "MIKU EXPO 2016 NORTH AMERICA" in Monterrey (Mexico).

More than 90% of the audience were girls, and as soon as Miku appeared on stage, the girls screamed out loud in a high-pitched voice! The live music was drowned out by the cheering.

As for the last episode, there was "Mikupa" in Hong Kong. I was walking through the streets in Hong Kong after the show and I was stopped by 3 young people. They were big fans of Miku and told me all excited that they had traveled hours on a train from Beijing to Hong Kong to see the show! Later I reunited with one of them at the "MIKU EXPO 2019 Taiwan". I was so glad that the person continued to be a fan. MIKU EXPO is an attempt to unite the world through Hatsune Miku. We will definitely see you all again somewhere in the world!

Live Concert Producer
Ryoji Sekimoto

MIKU EXPO is an event that requires a long period of preparation, as the set lists and performances are created after researching music culture in advance, and the venue environment and local staff are new and different each time. Production process is tough sometimes but the response of the fans is always very rewarding.

Every time I see the fan's cheering and their glow sticks becoming a part of the show and bringing Miku to life, it reminds me that concerts are created together with fans no matter where I go and that makes me happy.

Also, a fan from the US once said "When you come here and start talking about Miku, there are no boundaries." and it was impressive. Seeing fans from different countries enjoy communicating with each other made me happy and I am glad that we were able to hold the events. We will continue to deliver the amazing works created through Hatsune Miku around the world, in the form of MIKU EXPO.

I would be happy if you could continue to participate in the event to communicate with each other and create concerts with us together.

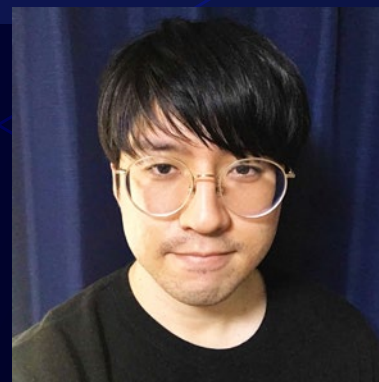

I look forward to seeing you all in future events.

The first MIKU EXPO I was a part of was in Los Angeles and New York in 2014. I had joined Crypton a few months prior to that, and it was my first time seeing a Hatsune Miku concert live, and my first time interacting with so many overseas Miku fans, which made me realize how diverse they were, and left me impressed by their enthusiasm and the positive energy that was shared. Later, I followed the MIKU EXPO tour to many places around the world, and was able to meet some fans up close at the smaller sub-events and workshops we held besides the concerts. There, some scenes of total strangers becoming friendly with each other through Hatsune Miku were very touching. There were many other valuable experiences, but the first concert held in my home country of France in 2018 remains a special memory for me.

MIKU EXPO 2016 North America was my first ever assignment when I joined Crypton as an employee. Fresh out of college, I was definitely not prepared for the immense amount of pre-production work, 2 whole months on the road, and so many major and minor issues that show up unexpectedly on the day of the show. However, the love and support that the fans showed for Hatsune Miku has left a lasting impression on me and still keeps me going to this day. I am excited to see everyone around the world again soon!

- ① An artist who loves music. I make music-related artworks and character products illustrations etc.
- ② I drew a powerful Miku, standing assertively on stage and stirring up the audience. Unfortunately the tour was canceled and the main visual for 2021 ended up not being released, I hope Miku's voice and your cheers will reunite again at a concert venue one day!
